Final Services Held For Pope

Dulles Attends Solemn Requiem Mass

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A solemn requiem mass in St. Peter's basilica concluded Sunday the nine days of funeral services for Pope Pius XII.

Diplomats and representatives from 50 non-Communist nations—including U.S. Secretary of State Dulles—sat in reverent silence throughout the two-hour ceremony.

With Dulles were Mrs. Clare Booth Luce, former U.S. ambassador to Italy, and John A. McCone, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. They were the representatives of President Eisenhower.

While essentially a sorrowful service, the mass had nonetheless joyous overtones, emphasizing the Christian attitude of triumph over death.

This was especially evident when the Vatican choir burst out into a heart-lifting "Kyrie Eleison"—Lord Have Mercy—just before the "Gloria" of the mass, the latter a hymn to the glory of God on high.

The rising and falling tones of the choir swept over the restricted apse area where the mass was celebrated and beyond through the empty recesses of the Basilica of St. Peter.

The ceremony was not open to the general public.

Secretary and Mrs. Dulles sat to the right of the altar of the Cathedra, the cathedral throne, where Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, white-bearded, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals, officiated with the assistance of four cardinals, among them Francis Spellman, archbishop of New York.

Six Persons Die In Auto Collision

The two cars came together with a crushing impact on a high-way by-pass southeast of here. Debris was scattered over a wide area and an injured woman was found 50 feet from the car in which she was riding.

Soviet Jetliner Crash Killed 65, Peiping Reports

LONDON (AP)—Sixty-five passengers, including 16 Communist Chinese government officials, were killed in the crash of a Russian TU104 jetliner en route from Peiping to Moscow Friday, the Red Chinese Radio said Sunday night.

An undisclosed number of crew members also died in the disaster in the Kanash region of the Chinese autonomous Soviet Republic, the broadcast said.

Of the 65 passengers, the broadcast said, 49 were "foreign friends who had visited China on invitation and foreign experts on their way home from China."

Four West Germans and one British subject were reported among the dead. There were no survivors of the crash.

Names of the foreigners aboard were not disclosed in the Peiping broadcast. The radio listed among the Chinese dead Cheng Chen To, head of the Chinese cultural delegation to Afghanistan and the United Arab Republic. Others were members of his delegation and personnel of the ministry of Foreign Trade and the Foreign Ministry of Communist China.

Tornado Kills One, Injures 16 In Florida

Flimsy Houses At Pahokee Scattered Like Match Sticks

PAHOKEE, Fla. (AP)—A tornado dipped into this lush farming community on the edge of Lake Okeechobee Sunday. It killed one person, injured at least 16 and left dozens homeless.

The brief storm moved in from the west during heavy rain at 8:45 a.m. and smashed into a row of two-room migrant houses just off U.S. 441, scattering the flimsy dwellings like match sticks.

Then it crossed the highway and struck another row of houses and trailers on the east side of this community of 5,000 persons.

An estimated 50 houses were demolished or destroyed. R. M. Shirk, county Red Cross disaster chairman, said 42 persons were homeless and also were in immediate need of clothing.

Elderly Negro Killed

The only known casualty was John Gray, 70-year-old Negro whose body was found in the wreckage of his home. His wife, Alice, was hospitalized with head injuries.

J. C. Forman, 40, and his wife, Ruby, and Lola Harris were hospitalized at Pahokee and 12 others were sent to a hospital at West Palm Beach.

Powerful winds tossed two freight cars from a railroad siding. One house was blown from its foundation, swept 200 feet across a highway and dropped into a field.

The town's power was disrupted. Felled trees, water and debris blocked highways north and south of the city. The highway patrol station was operating on auxiliary power.

Relief agencies moved in quickly to provide temporary food and shelter.

Airplanes Damaged

At the Pahokee airport just west of town, the wind damaged several small airplanes, most of them used as crop dusters.

The crops of beans and sweet corn just coming into harvest were damaged somewhat by heavy rains but the tornado only cut a swath about 100 yards wide across the farming community which is strung out along the highway.

Charlie Ashley, 59, said heavy drops of rain that sounded like hail fell just before the wind struck.

"It sounded like rocks dropping on the house," he said. "Then I heard a sound like a railroad train passing. The wind hit the Harris house and bounced up and then bounced down again and took the roof off my house."

Five persons in the Ashley house were not injured.

Nazi Erich Koch On Trial Today

WARSAW (AP)—The last of the great trials of World War II criminals opens here Monday. Nazi Erich Koch faces a Polish court charged with condemning more than four million persons to death.

Informed sources said Koch himself probably will be condemned to death, have this sentence commuted to life imprisonment and then be handed over to the Russians for final judgement. Most victims while Koch was gauleiter of Nazi-occupied eastern Poland and western Russia were Russians.

'Extra' U.S. Navy Ships Leave Formosa Strait

ABOARD THE US3 MIDWAY IN THE EAST CHINA SEA (AP)—The U.S. Navy has withdrawn some of its ships from Formosa Strait since the Chinese Reds voluntarily silenced their guns Oct. 6.

Two U.S. 7th Fleet admirals disclosed this Sunday, but they said the ships have not withdrawn so far they cannot return in a hurry.

The ships withdrawn were the extras sent in after the Communists launched their artillery bombardment of the Quemoy island complex off the Red China mainland on Aug. 23.

Rear Adm. Miles Hubbard, commander of Cruiser Task Force 75, said they could be reinstated at a moment's notice.

Clarke's 62,000-ton flagship. Despite the cease-fire, they said, their ships and airpower are ready to strike if ordered to do so. But they emphasized their task is not to stir up a fight.

Clarke said the 72,000-ton super-carrier Ranger will join the fleet this winter and the 45,000-ton carrier Ticonderoga, now in Hawaii waters, is en route to join his command as a replacement for one of four flatboats. They are the Midway, Lexington, Shangri-la Bennington.

"Our air arm is immediately ready for a full state of war," said Clarke who commands 400 carrier planes that carry deadly air-to-air guided missiles and which can fly nuclear bomb missions into Red China.

Hubbard said the ships that have withdrawn from Formosa Strait have returned to normal duty.

Crazed Policeman Kills 4 In Broadway Restaurant

Choir Sings During Bomb Search

Members of the Arlington (Va.) Unitarian Church choir, evacuated with the congregation during a bomb scare yesterday, sing at the rear of the church while police search the building. A telephone call, warning that "we're going to bomb the place," sent police scurrying to the church while everyone was ordered outside. No bomb was found. A Jewish rabbi was to have been the speaker. (AP Photos)

Church Service Cancelled After Bombing Threat

ARLINGTON, Va. (UPI)—An anonymous telephone caller threatened Sunday to bomb the integrated Arlington Unitarian Church shortly before the congregation of more than 500 was scheduled to hear an anti-segregation sermon.

The service was cancelled and police and firemen searched the brick building and the rabbi's car but found no bomb. Arlington is just across the Potomac River from Washington and is under court order to take four Negroes into its all-white schools in January.

The Rev. Ross Allen Weston, minister of the church and a strong integrationist, said he believed his church was threatened "because we are integrated and because we brought in a Jew." He said he received abusive telephone calls and letters almost daily.

Rabbi Emmet A. Frank of Congregation Beth-El in Alexandria, Va., addressed the 9:15 a.m. service on reformed Judaism, with no mention of integration. He was waiting to speak at the 11:15 a.m. service when the bomb threat was received by Ann Bowen, a church secretary.

She said the phone rang about 11 a.m. and a man with a "gruff, deep" voice warned her: "Clear out the church. We're going to bomb it." He then hung up.

Rev. Weston ordered the 220 children and 325 adults, including five Negroes, to leave the building to permit the search. But he said Rabbi Frank would be invited to speak again next week.

A segregationist group once threatened to "horsewhip and tar and feather" Rev. Weston. He said he receives "abusive and obscene" telephone calls and letters almost every day because of his pro-integration stand. He said he would not be intimidated by the attacks.

Little Rock Private School Work Rushed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Volunteer workers labored feverishly Sunday to put a 32-classroom building in shape to begin private classes for white high school seniors.

Registration, with about 500 students expected, will be held Monday and a 4 classes start Tuesday.

The building, leased Thursday by the Little Rock Private School Corp., required almost complete redecoration and refurbishing. It formerly was used as a graduate facility by the University of Arkansas.

World Fair Ends In Blaze Of Color

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The World's Fair, which attracted more than 40 million visitors in six months, ended with a blaze of fireworks here Sunday.

The last day broke all attendance records as thousands jammed into the 500-acre fairground for a last look at the 116 pavilions representing the balance sheet of progress for 46 nations.

People arriving by streetcar, auto, bus and on foot easily surpassed the May day record crowd of more than 700,000. Their upturned faces mirrored a rainbow of color as aerial bombs and rockets burst overhead.

Party Chairman Hurls Challenge At Dixie Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler challenged conservative Southern Democrats Sunday either to accept a strong civil rights plank in the 1960 Democratic platform or leave the party.

Simultaneously, Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) predicted there would be no walkout by the Southerners if the platform committee drafts a "reasonable and restrained" civil rights plank. He said he was confident the party will "surmount the problem again" without any party split.

Smathers, chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, said he looks for the 1960 convention to draft a platform "with which we can live" as it did in 1951 and 1956.

Butler and Smathers aired their views on the civil rights questions as the pleas of Democrats and Republicans alike neared a crescendo in their efforts to corral votes in next month's congressional and gubernatorial elections.

Butler, who has feuded with anti-integration Southerners in the past, said on a television program (ABC—College News Conference) he believed "there will certainly be no compromise" on the civil rights issue in the 1960 Democratic platform.

He said he hoped Southern pro-segregation Democrats like Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas and Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) "would take leave of the Democratic Party" if they cannot support the platform.

"If they don't want to go along on the racial problem and the whole area of human rights," he said, "then I think they are going to have to take political asylum wherever they can find it, either in the Republican Party or a third party."

Polish Cardinal Given Rousing Rome Welcome

ROME (AP)—Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski of Poland arrived Sunday night to take part in the conclave that will name a new pope. The only cardinal attending from a Communist country, he received a thunderous welcome.

One thousand cheering persons were on hand at the Rome railway station when the cardinal's train arrived. The throng included Poles living here as exiles from Poland's Communist regime and Poles representing the Warsaw government in Italy.

The welcome was the most rousing given any of the more than 30 non-Italian cardinals who have come to Rome since the death of Pope Pius XII.

When the 60-year-old cardinal appeared at the entrance of his car, the crowd broke into a cheer. "My God, I did not know I was so popular," exclaimed the cardinal.

"Why? Why?"

Someone in the crowd shouted, "Long Live the Pope."

Cardinal Wyszynski, clearly surprised, turned to an aide: "I hope they don't think I came here to be elected pope because they should know better than that. All I want to do is to return to my work as soon as possible."

Another crowd turned out to cheer Gregory Peter Cardinal Agagianian, Russian-born patriarch of Armenia and the most prominently mentioned among non-Italians as a possible successor to Pope Pius.

Sighting Of Raft Spurs Plane Survivor Search

AGANA, Guam (UPI)—The life raft about 155 miles west of sighting of flares and a liferaft in the same general area with three "human forms" Sunday spurred a search for survivors of a plane which went down in the Pacific off Guam.

Bad weather, rain and heavy seas, hampered what Navy officials said was the biggest search operations in the area in years.

The Navy plane, believed to carry a crew of four, disappeared Saturday somewhere between Guam and the Philippines. Reports received here indicated the plane was ditched.

Planes and ships went out to search for the plane in spite of the weather.

Early Sunday the pilot of a trans-oceanic inter-island amphibious plane reported sighting two known poets, died Sunday. He was 88. He was a member of the Chilean Language Academy and winner of the national literature prize.

Off Duty Cop Is Shot Down By Pursuers

NEW YORK (AP)—An off-duty policeman went berserk in a Broadway restaurant early Sunday and—without warning—fatally shot four men standing at the bar.

The officer, James McDermott, 34, then fled, crashing through the glass paneling of the exit door. McDermott staged a running gun battle with pursuing patrolmen. He wounded one pursuer before he was shot down three blocks away.

McDermott was not expected to live.

The patrolman, father of three, entered the Pic-A-Rib restaurant, a few blocks north of Times Square at 53rd St. about 1:45 a.m. He went to a men's room at the rear and minutes later walked toward the door as if to leave.

Suddenly he wheeled and, without uttering a word, began firing. Three men at one end of the bar fell with bullets in their heads. Farther up the bar another man was felled by a bullet in the head. All four died in hospitals. Police said McDermott fired six shots in all.

Six Patrons At Bar

There were six patrons at the bar, including one woman. As the shots rang out, bartender Albert Key ducked behind the bar and crouched on the floor.

The restaurant proper is separated from the bar by a partition.

There were only a few patrons in the restaurant. They watched, speechless and horrified, as McDermott made his crashing exit from the establishment. Regaining their voices, they could only cry in chorus: "There he goes!"

Patrolmen Charles Prestia and Raymond Manners, both of McDermott's own precinct, heard the shots and shouts as they cruised in their separate radio cars. They spotted McDermott and gave chase.

Manners said he shouted to McDermott to drop his guns and was greeted with gunfire. Manners dove into a doorway and shouted again to McDermott to surrender. When McDermott fired again, Manners said, he emptied his own pistol and McDermott fell at Eighth Ave. and 55th St.

Four Bullets Hit Cop

McDermott was shot twice in the chest, once in the abdomen and once in the left arm.

Both Manners and Prestia pounced upon McDermott and each grabbed one of the fallen cop's pistols. One was his .38-caliber service revolver and the other a .32-caliber revolver.

McDermott was charged with homicide.

Edmund Leahy, 50, convicted usurer of Manhattan; Thomas Joseph O'Hare, 55, an usher at Madison Square Garden who lived in Manhattan; a man tentatively identified as Lawrence Davion, 63, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; and Eugene Cronin, about 55, identified from a card as a member of the American Association of Professional Baseball Players.

U.S. Official, Lloyd Confer At Air Base

Far East Strategy Apparently Aired During Stopover

BRIZE NORTON, England (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles talked for two hours Sunday night with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. He then flew off by jet on the polar route toward Formosa to meet Chiang Kai-shek.

Dulles talked with his British counterpart at this U.S. air base in the heart of England. He arrived here Sunday evening from Rome, where he attended memorial services for Pope Pius XII.

Walworth Barbour, minister at the U. S. Embassy in London, joined Dulles for the talks. Lloyd was accompanied by his private secretary.

No word was available on what the two statesmen talked about. Lloyd accompanied Dulles back to his plane—a four-jet KC135 tanker transport—but neither would speak with newsmen.

Nine hours after takeoff the plane was due to touch down at Eielson Field, Alaska, to refuel for the 11-hour leg to Taipei, Formosa.

Dulles was accompanied by his wife and his special assistant, Joseph N. Greene.

Share Turkey Dinner

The China offshore islands question is assumed to have figured high in the talks with Lloyd, who last conferred with Dulles three weeks ago in New York.

The two shared a turkey dinner before Dulles' plane took off.

Dulles arrived in Rome Saturday for memorial services for Pope Pius in Vatican City. He took the occasion to hold talks with Italy's Premier Amintore Fanfani, and Foreign Ministers Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany and Maurice Couve de Murville of France.

Before departing Rome, Dulles told newsmen his meeting with Lloyd "came about naturally when he learned that I was landing in England to get more gas and would be there at dinner time."

Dulles said he and Lloyd would talk about "no special subject—we are just taking advantage of being in the same place at the same time, the same as my talks here with the Italian Premier and the West German and French foreign ministers."

8,200-Mile Flight

Dulles' 8,200-mile flight, with a stop also at Nielson air base in Alaska, is expected to put him in Taipei Tuesday morning, Formosa time.

During the two days in Formosa, Dulles probably will assure Chiang there has been no change in U.S. policy on Formosa. Chiang in return, is believed ready to give his assurance he will take no independent actions against the Chinese Reds, such as bombing raids on the mainland.

But the big question still unanswered is whether Chiang will agree to a manpower cut on the offshore island of Quemoy to relieve Communist fears of a Nationalist invasion of the mainland.

The United States is reported to feel that if these fears can be removed, a dependable cease-fire can be achieved. The self-imposed Communist cease-fire around Quemoy goes into its third week Monday. It is due to end next Sunday.

More Troops Quit Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—More U.S. troops pulled out of Lebanon Sunday after hearing a message from President Eisenhower that their mission was done.

The United States hopes to move all its troops out of Lebanon by Oct. 31.

A message from President Eisenhower, saying "your mission now has been performed," was broadcast to the American forces during the day.

A U.S. military spokesman said an airborne battle group of the 24th Division continued its return to Germany by air. An advance party of the group returned to Germany Thursday.

The spokesman declined to reveal the numbers involved in Sunday's airlift but noted there were an estimated 3,100 airborne combat troops in Lebanon at one time. The airborne troops began arriving in Beirut July 19.

He also revealed the 3rd Battalion of the 6th Marines is in Beirut but its members are on liberty and not considered part of U.S. forces in Lebanon.

Holland Says South Faces Fight Of Life To Save Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) says Southern Democrats are going to face the fight of their lives in an effort to keep the Senate from softening its filibuster rule.

Holland, whose renomination in the Florida primary is tantamount to re-election, disagreed with a contention by Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) that civil rights advocates are likely to be successful in curbing future filibusters.

"I think some people are going to be surprised when they find that not only Southern Democrats but senators from other sections will support the tradition that the Senate is a continuing body," Holland said. "But we're ready for the fight of our lives."

Case said Sunday in a separate interview he believes changes in the Senate's membership this year will bring an increase in support for the contention that the body's rules lapse with the end of each two-year Congress.

Case and others have announced they will seek to force this issue when the new Congress convenes in January. Their objective is to open the way for adoption by a majority vote of a new rule under which 49 senators could curb debate. If it is held that the old rules carry over to the new Senate, a two-thirds vote would be needed to change them.

As the rule now stands, the votes of 64 senators are required to terminate debate. Any proposed change can be filibustered.

Floodwaters Start To Fall

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Rio Grande, which has spread miles wide over hundreds of thousands of acres, began to fall by inches in the upper reaches Sunday.

The river, on its biggest rise in modern history, has left a trail of misery, destruction and homelessness from giant Falcon Reservoir to the Gulf of Mexico. Muddy waters rose into many homes in low-lying border towns on both sides of the stream.

Conservative estimates put the homeless at about 12,000. Poor communications on the Mexican side made it impossible to determine the exact figure.

Mexican Move To Revive Arms Talks Reported

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Mexico is reported preparing a resolution for Big Four efforts to resume year-by-year negotiations on general disarmament.

The Soviet Union has stopped such negotiations for the last year with a boycott of the U.N. Disarmament Commission, now comprising 25 nations, and its subcommittee, consisting of the Big Four and Canada. It objects that Western-allied countries outnumber Communist and neutral countries on each.

Latin American sources said Sunday Mexico would submit its resolution in the disarmament debate of the General Assembly's Political Committee, to run into next week, and would ask for a report back before the Assembly adjourns in December.

The tentative version, they reported, calls on Britain, France, the Soviet Union and the United States to meet with the committee chairman, Miguel Rafael Urquiza of El Salvador, and, with the help of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, try to agree on proposals.

Diplomatic informants said the plan had met with an encouraging response from some small and middle-sized countries. But they added that the big powers seemed much more interested in the talks for controlled suspension of nuclear weapons tests than Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States are to begin in Geneva Oct. 31.

Baltimore Shipyard Workers End Strike

BALTIMORE (AP)—A five-week strike at the Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. ended Sunday when workers voted to accept a 31-cent boost to be paid over a one-year period.

The walkout, which affected some 1,500 workers, was called Sept. 12 by Local 31, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers.

The company said workers will begin returning tomorrow morning. Others will be called back as needs increase.

Francis J. Plogman, president of the local, said the workers voted overwhelmingly to accept the 31-cent package. Seventeen cents will be retroactive to last Aug. 15; another six cents will be paid in January and the remaining eight cents next August.

The strike vote was taken Aug. 23 and the company began laying off workers thereafter, saying work began dropping off after the vote.

It said the 800 workers still on the job when the strike started would be called back first.

Some 80 per cent of the homes in the United States are made of wood.

GM Chevrolet Workers End Baltimore Strike

BALTIMORE (AP) — An 18-day strike at the General Motors Chevrolet plant here ended today but a walkout continued at the Fisher Body plant.

Union officials said maintenance workers were to report at midnight at Chevrolet and that most of the approximately 1,500 strikers are to be called back by Tuesday.

Louis G. Jeffries, head of the bargaining committee for Local 678, UAW, which represents the Chevrolet workers, said they voted to accept both the national and local agreements with GM.

Three Killed On Md. Highways

By The Associated Press Three persons were killed and eight young Marines injured in weekend highway accidents in Maryland.

Antonio Scarpello, 26, of Baltimore, was struck by a car on Harford road in Baltimore early Sunday. He was pronounced dead at St. Joseph's Hospital. The driver was Gary F. Straley of Bel Air, Md.

State Police said another weekend victim was a hitchhiker who presumably leaped in front of a tractor-trailer on U. S. 40 near North East, Md. He was tentatively identified through pawn tickets found on his body as Francis Le Blanc of Washington, D.C.

Thomas G. Dodson, 36, of Sparks, Md., was fatally injured in a two-car collision on the Baltimore County Beltway.

The car carrying the eight servicemen crashed into the rear of another car at Gambrills, Anne Arundel County. One of the Marines, Richard G. Gardner, 19, of Schenectady, N. Y., remained in serious condition at Ft. Meade Hospital Sunday. He was the driver.

The American Red Cross was organized in Washington, D. C., in 1881.

Reds' Upsurge In Iraq Marked By Nasser's Downgrading

By WILTON WYNN BEIRUT (AP)—An enterprising Baghdad printer made a fortune out of the Iraqi revolution. He got a license for printing photos of Gamal Abdel Nasser and turned out thousands of pictures the first few days after the July 14 coup d'etat.

Now the Nasser pictures are disappearing from Iraqi streets. The government of Brig. Abdel Kerim Kassem has discouraged printing any more. Kassem's own photo slowly is winning out over Nasser's in shops and public places.

Iraq's powerful Communist party has had a big hand in this downgrading of Nasser, through skillful propaganda and political maneuverings. Kassem himself is no Communist, but leftists influence him. Especially regarding the pro-Nasser elements in Iraq. The Communists believe they can dominate the Kassem government if they oust the Nasserists. Their chances of coming to power will fade if Iraq joins a Nasserite Arab union.

The Iraqi Communists have emerged as about the strongest Communist movement ever seen in the Arab world. Former Premier Nuri Said hanged Communists in the streets, jailed them, deported them, deprived them of citizenship. As soon as Nuri was slain the Communists showed up in strength in Baghdad.

Exiles returned from havens in the Communist world. Communists staged vast demonstrations of welcome for the new Soviet ambassador to Baghdad and for returnees like Kurdish Communist leader Moustafa Barzani. The size of these demonstrations was a shock to many Iraqis. During the years they were outlawed by Nuri, the Iraqi Communists worked in harmony with other underground parties. Among these are the socialistic Baath party, dedicated to Arab unity and currently most loyal to Nasser, now is under Communist fire. Kassem's ambitious Baathist vice premier, Col. Abdel Salam Aref, has been sent to Germany as ambassador. Kassem himself doesn't appear worried by the Communist threat. He seems to feel his military following eases a silly counterbalances Communist civilian strength. Louisiana is the only state in the United States whose laws are not based on English common law.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Who can you think of who would be better for "Fanny" than Maurice Chevalier? Just nobody in this whole world. Apparently Joshua Logan, who will direct the motion picture version for Warner Bros., also feels the same way. He has contacted Maurice about playing the role which Ezio Pinza played on the stage.

Maurice was so good in "Gigi" and on the Lucy and Desi TV show that it's gratifying to him and to all of us who have known him these many years that offers continue to pour in.

Another project which is intriguing Maurice is his own life story "The Man With the Straw Hat" which Arthur Freed plans to make with the popular French actor. That would call for a lot of songs—and it can't be too many.

Now I know all's right with the world. C. B. De Mille will be on the set at Paramount on Tuesday to film a 10 - minute historical background with himself as narrator for "The Buccaneer." C. B. plans the same type of introduction that he narrated for "The Ten Commandments."

He believes that work is the best cure when you are ailing and he makes those less courageous feel ashamed. I am always happy when I hear that he's busy because it augurs well for the whole industry.

Alex Guinness arrived in town Saturday on his way to the Mexican Film Festival. He'll stay over Monday to give the news boys and girls a chance to talk with him. His picture, "The Horse's Mouth," made for United Artists, is one of the hot contenders for an award. He won an award at the Venice Film Festival for best performance for the same picture.

This will be the first time Alex has visited us since he won the Academy Award last year for "The Bridge on the River Kwai." I hope to get a chance to see him while he's here, because he's not only a great actor but a charming and interesting person.

Mervyn Leroy's birthday is always an occasion for dinner for his friends, and a birthday cake with all the trimmings provided by Kitty. This year was no exception and I was happy to be invited as I have for many years on Merv's natal day. The party was not a big one because "The FBI Story" gets him to the Warner Studio so early that he had to make it an early night.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK — It took 25 hours to fly home from Rome, and believe me a lot of us on that old DC7B were pretty upset about it. "I could have walked it in that time," a fellow across the aisle grumbled as the captain touched the big ship down gracefully at Idlewild. He had complained earlier because the champagne on which he was free-loading wasn't of his favorite vintage.

(His grandfather might have come over in the Potato Famine or the Spaghetti Revolt of 1848. . . might have come over in the airless bowels of a reeking and wallowing ship that needed sails as well as coal to make it. Lord knows how long it took, or what he ate. . .)

"I want to apologize for the delay and trust that those who have connections to make will not be inconvenienced," the captain announced over the cockpit mike.

He should have said: "Listen, those of you who are griping, we're late because I had an oil leak going into Orly Wednesday night and did the sensible thing. I had it fixed. If I hadn't, we might not have made it."

"I don't see why they don't put better reading lights in the berths at night," a lady passenger said. "My eyes got all red finishing my novel. Wait'll I see Sam Pryor." (She could have said: "Isn't this an incredible age? Imagine, sleeping like a baby in a comfortable bed while flying 19,000 feet over the ocean at 300 miles an hour!")

"I didn't like that turbulence back there one little bit," the man in the seat ahead said. "Wouldn't you think that fellow up there would have just flown around it?" He might have asked the navigator, who could have said: "Boy, we sure missed a whopper of a storm a little while ago. We picked her up on radar and circled around it just in time to miss the brunt of it. This radar . . . it's something.") for the conclave which will elect a successor to Pius XII. There will probably be some disappointment expressed abroad if we don't make it to Paris in six and one half hours, which is about six times as fast as a fellow named Lindbergh once took.

"How about these crazy

In time will we complain if the wine isn't properly chilled as we take off from Paris for New York at 10 p.m. Paris time and land at Idlewild at 11:30 p.m. New York time the very same night? Possibly.

Correction. Make that probably.

We may all see the day when a flight to the moon is ruined for a passenger because the landing deflated her soufflé.

ELECTION RECORD — Retired farmer C. E. Anderson, 72, of Brookings, S. D., probably is the only man in the nation who has served in the four different houses in two state legislatures. He was elected to the Iowa state assembly in 1922 and 1924, and to the Iowa senate in 1928 and 1930. After moving to South Dakota, he served in that state's assembly 1939-1945, and was elected to the senate in 1957. He finally was defeated in the South Dakota GOP primary last June.

Rocky Rescued

ARLINGTON, Va. (P)—Rocky, a Siamese cat, didn't feel quite at home on — or rather, in — the range.

Rocky was being kept by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Withorn for their daughter, Mrs. Samuel Chaffin, while she was out of town. In some manner, the cat climbed down inside the gas cook stove and couldn't get back out.

Two members of the Arlington Animal Welfare League worked over an hour dismantling the stove to release Rocky.

The word "legend" originally meant a story intended to be read in churches.

HE RE-GREW HAIR

Mr. T. A. Melton (above) of Hollidaysburg, Pa., gave about 20 minutes of his time for the Erickson free hair and scalp examination and re-grew his hair.

RETURN FOR THE 6TH YEAR TO SHOW HOW TO SAVE HAIR AND PREVENT BALDNESS

CHICAGO — For the 6th consecutive year representatives of the Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists are returning to your state. Why delay longer in carrying out your resolution to "Do something about your hair." (Do not be one of the millions who are bald because they did nothing.)

Tomorrow, Tuesday only, October 21, in Cumberland, Maryland, at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Staff Director J. L. Thomas, representing the famous Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists, will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists have long been a leader in the field of combating hair loss. Now, we are announcing a new, even more successful home treatment, ready for easy application in the privacy of your own home.

What Causes Baldness?
How many times have you heard men attempt to explain their loss of hair with one of these remarks:

"Oh, baldness runs in my family, so I just have to accept it." . . . or "Well, it's natural for a man to lose his hair as he gets along in years" . . . or "If you're going to be bald, you're going to be bald, and there's nothing you can do about it."

So many men have said such things for so many hundreds of years, that these old ideas are still widely circulated. But they are not supported by modern knowledge.

True, some few men do inherit a scalp structure that may predispose to early baldness. But any such tendency can be overcome by proper hair care.

As for the excuse of age, it is established now that men's hair naturally grows fastest in the years from 35 to 65. And certainly much can be done to stop hair loss, as the careful records kept by Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists prove.

Actually, the two most common causes for baldness are neglect and mistreatment of the hair.

Your hair is in better condition today than it will be next month or even next week.

When you first notice your hair thinning, brought on usually by dandruff, itching, dryness, oiliness or follicles clogged with sebum or seborrhea, take positive action at once. See the fam-

This farm mechanics course will include a special five-weeks arc welding course for those farmers specifically interested in arc welding.

Handlan Heads W. Va. Group

KEYSER — James T. Handlan, president, and Dr. Nancy M. Miller, program chairman, are planning the year's activities for the local chapter of the Association of Higher Education.

Announcements of future plans of the organization will be made known in coming weeks.

William E. Michael, president of the state organization of the Association of Higher Education, disclosed that the first meeting of the state AHE will be held Friday, October 31, in Charleston. He is a member of Potomac State College's biological sciences department.

A total of 617 students, 463 men and 153 women, enrolled for the fall term at Potomac State, according to statistics released from the office of Dean K. S. McKee.

The current enrollment is the second highest in the school's history. Previous highs were 634 in 1947, and 609 in 1957.

Freshmen head the list with 356, the sophomores following with a total of 224. Special students who are taking a limited number of credit hours total 37.

Capt. Jack C. Fessenden announced this year's ROTC battalion officers at Potomac State College as follows:

Burke Is Winner Over Venturi In Playoff In Japan

SAGAMIHARA, Japan (UPI) — Jackie Burke, Jr., of Texas defeated Ken Venturi of California in the second hole of a "sudden death" playoff Sunday to capture the Japanese Open Golf Tournament.

Burke and Venturi fired two under par 72's on the long 7,225-yard, par 74 Sagami Country Club course here in the final round of the 72-hole tournament to be tied with three under par 289's as they beat third-placed Canada Cup champion Torakichi Nakamura by two strokes.

More than 3,000 enthusiastic golfers turned out in perfect weather to see the final round. Play was called off Saturday when Venturi and Nakamura were on the fourth green because heavy rain made further play impossible.

5 Counties Ready For Reappraisal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The State Tax Commission announced that five more West Virginia counties are ready for reappraisal of real and personal property.

State Tax Commissioner John A. Field said appraisal firms had been asked to submit cost proposals for the work in Berkeley, Mineral, Putnam, Mason and Tyler counties.

The reappraisal program was established by the 1958 Legislature as a means for providing more money for the state's public school system. The state pays 90 per cent of the cost of the reappraisal and county courts 10 per cent.

Two Senate Nominees Favor U.S. School Aid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — act "was primarily an emergency measure which still does not reach the heart of the total educational problem."

They said a federal aid-to-education program should be devised that will preserve local leadership and local control over education with state, local and private sources providing the major source of revenue. Federal funds would be used "to fill the major gaps in the total national system," they said.

Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) and former congressman Jennings Randolph said in a joint statement that they had reached "a mutual area of agreement" on school financing and the part the federal government should play "in bridging gaps in the total educational system."

They said state and local tax systems are not always adequate partly because they depend much on the real property tax and partly because "local and state governments are reluctant to raise taxes and thereby place their communities in an unfavorable competitive position with other states."

The two Democrats said that an effort by West Virginia to match the per capita dollar expenditures of some other states "would more than exhaust our total revenue on schools alone."

Describing education as a "national problem," Randolph and Byrd said they believe "it should be, in part, a federal responsibility to help solve the problem."

Noting that the government has been "in the business of aiding education" for years, Randolph and Byrd said "the question, is not one of federal aid, but of how much, what direction it will take, and how best to utilize it."

Calling attention to the National Defense Education Act enacted by the 8th Congress, they said the

Governor's Statement Draws Fire

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI) — Raleigh County Prosecutor Anthony J. Sparacino plans to consult attorneys this week with respect to recent statements attributed to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood. Sparacino said the alleged statements "are on the border line of being libelous."

Sparacino said that during a speech here last Thursday, Underwood said his administration changed Pinecrest Sanitarium from "a Ballard charity" to a reputable institution.

The prosecutor also said that Underwood alleged Sparacino refused to indict Ballard on charges of which the governor allegedly said Ballard "was guilty."

Underwood was referring to former Pinecrest business manager George W. Ballard who was accused of embezzlement and discharged. A Raleigh County grand jury later failed to return an indictment against Ballard.

Contacted at the governor's mansion Sunday, Underwood said he did not recall exactly what he said on that occasion and that he would have to check further before making any comment.

St. Michael's PTA Installs New Officers

Serving as president will be George Aldom; Richard McKay, vice president; Catherine Langan, secretary; Mrs. Samuel Tacino, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph Kenney, treasurer; Edward Boyle, chaplain and Edward P. Flanigan, publicity.

Among subjects discussed were two changes in the by-laws: One to change the term of office from June to the following June, and the changing of the meeting to an evening affair whenever possible. Both items will have to be presented at the next meeting for a vote.

Classroom mothers will take charge of most projects for the year, and the group has appointed the following to act in this capacity: First Grade, Mrs. William Colgan and Mrs. James Flanigan; Second Grade, Mrs. Bernard Rafferty and Mrs. Frank Scarpelli; Third Grade, Mrs. Samuel Dishong and Mrs. Harmon Arnold; Fourth Grade, Mrs. Joseph Struntz and Mrs. Jacob Seib; Fifth Grade, Mrs. John McDonald and Mrs. Lester Meyers; Sixth Grade, Mrs. George Aldom and Mrs. Charles Eberly; Seventh Grade, Mrs. Patrick Quinn and Mrs. Lawrence Tumino; Eighth Grade, Mrs. Henry Harris and Mrs. James Kenney.

Eisenhower's Visit Surprise

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Inside the Statehouse.

The announcement that President Eisenhower would make a 40-minute campaign stop at Kanawha Airport in Charleston Oct. 27 apparently came as a complete surprise to the governor's office.

Just a few hours before the White House announcement, a source close to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said it was extremely doubtful the President would visit West Virginia before the Nov. 4 general election.

The same source says there is a good chance that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will make another speech in West Virginia before the election. Nixon addressed a Republican rally in Huntington Oct. 10.

Make Apple Butter

LONA CONING — An apple butter making party was held Thursday at the home of Miss Mae Donaldson, Robbins Street.

CHRISTENS FIRST COMMERCIAL JET TRANSPORT — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower holds a bottle containing water from the seven seas just before she christened the nation's first commercial jet transport "America." The colorful ceremony at the Washington National Airport preceded the Boeing 707-121 jet's trip to the Brussels (Belgium) World's Fair. The plane flew from Baltimore, Md., where it was loaded, to Brussels in the record-breaking time of seven hours and nineteen minutes.

One-Way Traffic Rule In Keyser Starts Tuesday

KEYSER — One-way traffic will take full charge of the north on Main Street from Piedmont to Armstrong Streets, will go into effect Tuesday morning, October 21. Mayor Richard E. Romig announced.

Parking meters will be installed on the east side of the two blocks in the business section today by a representative of the Kootz Equipment Corporation, Pittsburgh, which sold the devices to the city.

The meters on those two blocks of Main Street and on Armstrong from Main to Davis Streets will be set to provide a maximum of 36 minutes of parking for three pennies, or a nickel may be used for the 36 minutes if the motorist has no pennies. Meters on Davis Street between Piedmont and Center and on Main from Piedmont to Overton Place will be regulated to give two hours of parking for two nickels.

Some weeks ago the Mayor and Council decided to make the two business blocks of Main Street one-way north to relieve traffic congestion and to provide more parking space by installing the meters on the east side of the street. An official traffic count revealed that approximately 80 per cent of the vehicles that use the street are traveling north.

Making those blocks one-way means that Route 46 through Keyser will have to be moved one block west to Davis Street. Keyser High School's Hi-Y.

Approximately 10,000 teachers throughout the state will attend with a large delegation expected from Mineral County.

Assisting Staggers as officers during the two-day meet will be Mrs. Catherine Clark, Parkersburg, vice president; J. P. McHenry, Wheeling, treasurer and Phares E. Reeder, Charleston, executive secretary.

WVEA has only missed having two conventions during its 94-year history. The first year teachers failed to hold a state convention was in 1873, when it was found that no city in West Virginia could provide ample hotel accommodations for the mushrooming association. The next non-meeting year was in 1918, when the flu epidemic was bringing disaster to the schools of the state.

Membership of the organization now numbers 15,315 with about 14,000 of these members belonging to National Education Assn. WVEA has existed (under three names) since 1864.

The state organization ranks in the top ten per capita membership in NEA. It is the largest and oldest professional association in West Virginia.

Big Business In Big Politics

Having accepted the political potency of organized labor as a fact to be faced and dealt with, if national policy ultimately is not to be anti-business, business leaders are taking seriously the possibilities of their own political organizations.

The Syracuse (N.Y.) Manufacturers Association has organized a political training program to interest business men in political activity for themselves and their employees. This is being copied in other states.

Gulf Oil Corp. recently announced that American corporations are in politics up to their ears and "must either start swimming or drown. If we are to survive, labor's political power must now be opposed by a matching force."

Others reported to be stepping up political activity are General Electric, Johnson and Johnson, Sears, Roebuck and Co., Timken Roller Bearing and Ford Motor Co. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is participating with the circulation of materials for local training courses on "down-to-earth" political techniques.

At present the approach is to encourage citizen participation in either party with the idea of promoting moderation of national policy among both Republicans and Democrats.

If the final result is two giant political organizations—business and organized labor, contesting for state and national control, the burden will be on the unattached segment of the voters, the independents, to tip the balance and guide the course of the nation in the future.

The Growth Of Empire

Vice President Nixon once wrote:

"... The significant thing about the Communist empire and its growth is that this empire did not expand by traditional methods of overt military aggression, but by revolution in the Soviet Union, civil war and revolution in China, a coup d'etat in Czechoslovakia. It is true that military power in many instances was an essential ingredient for the expansion of the Communist empire through non-military means. But it is also true that the Communists did not resort successfully to overt military aggression in the traditional way in which empires in the past have been built."

It is so important, in any attempt to understand the age in which we live, to realize that the Soviet Universal State never employs orthodox means to accomplish usual purposes. That is what confuses so many. For instance, there are those in banking and industry who say: "Why not deal freely with Soviet Russia? Why not deal with Red China? There's money in that!"

Unfortunately, trade with either country involves political considerations. The British had a theory, when they quickly recognized Red China, that their enormous trade in China would be restored to them. It has not been restored. Although they have earned some profits in Hongkong, they have had a very rough time of it in Shanghai, Hankow and any interior city. Most of their business in such places has been taken from them. The great advantage of early recognition of the Red Chinese government has not been demonstrated.

India has discovered how perilous friendship with Red China is and most Indians are frightened by the consequences of their country having acted almost as an agent for Red China in the United Nations through Krishna Menon. The fact of the matter is that while Menon has been speaking for Soviet Russia in the United Nations, the Communists established a base in India, in Kerala, a province containing a high percentage of unemployed intellectuals. From this base, they are impeding the Congress Party and the position of Nehru.

This is not an unusual Communist tactic and is often overlooked or even denied by non-Communists who fail to grasp that the ethics, morals, etiquettes of the two systems of life are different and contradictory. What seems terribly wrong to us is apparently right to them.

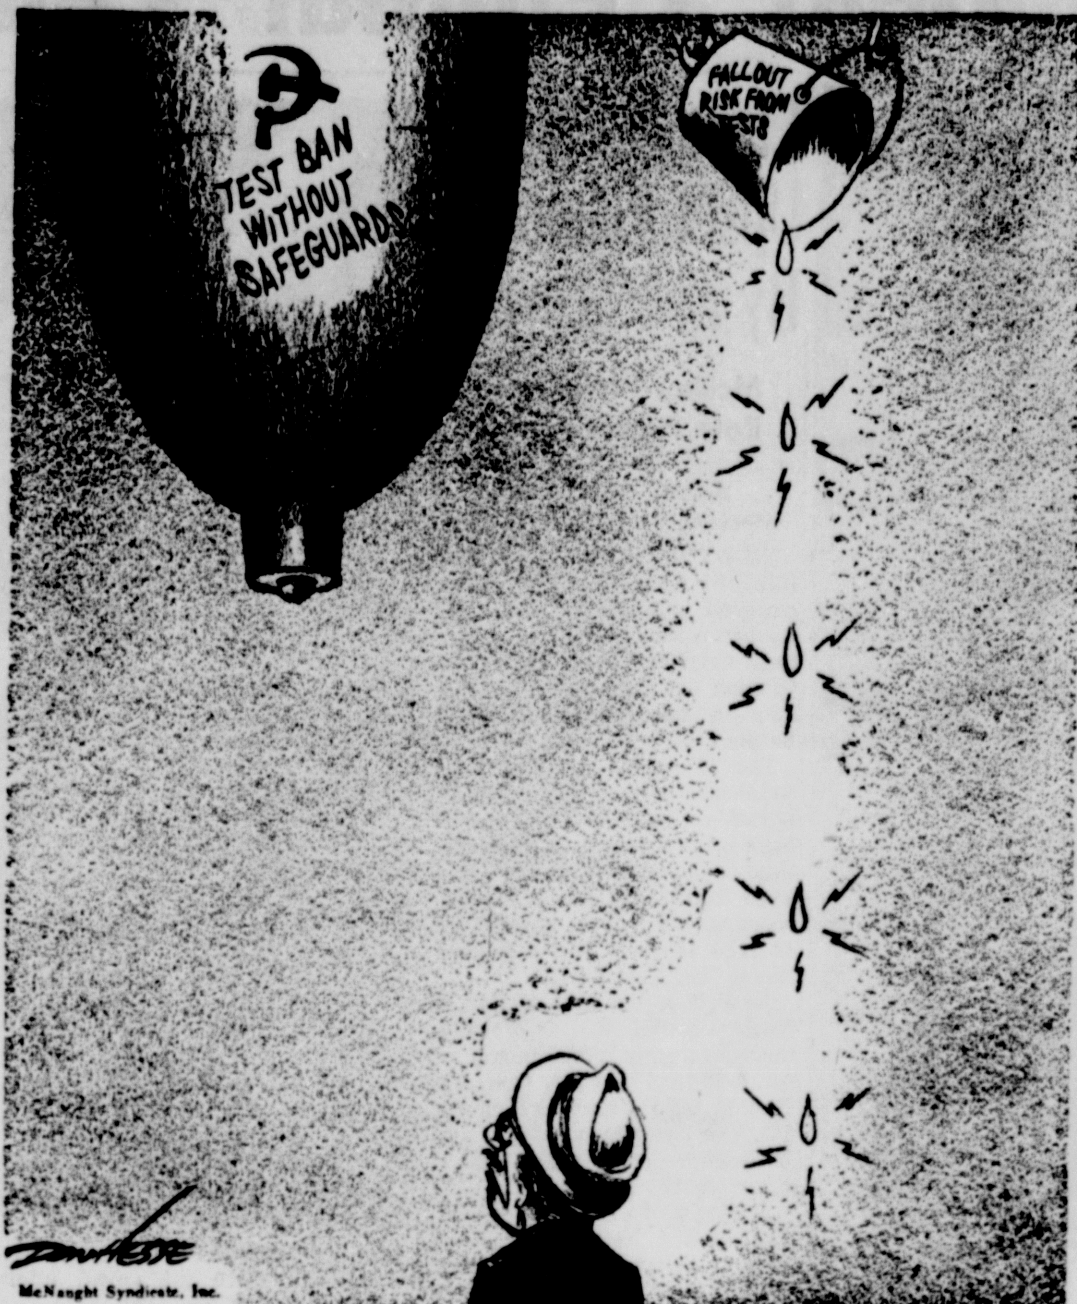

The businessman often believes that raising the standard of living of a people will drive off the Communist menace. Clarence B. Randall once put it this way:

"... Standards of living are frightful in some of these (underdeveloped) countries, as low as one hundred dollars per year per capita. If a country has only one hundred dollars per capita, double that and you have a terrific change in the buying power. The generations that are to follow, our grandchildren, will not hold us blameless if we permit these vast resources and these vast markets to come under the Soviet sway."

"There is truth in his statement of the appalling standard of living in many of these countries, but that does not explain why in every country, the Communist Party does not emerge from the masses but from the middle class and the intellectuals. In not one single instance did a Communist success develop out of a labor union movement. This is not a proletarian movement, although Karl Marx said it would be, but then he, himself, was strictly middle class, his associate Engels was a rich manufacturer and his wife was of the German aristocracy. A high standard of living does not save the world from anything, not even the excesses of a high standard of living.

More and more errors are going to be made in our judgments about the Soviet Universal State as our bankers and industrialists grow more desperate for new markets. They see great areas on the map which remain closed to them and they want them opened up. But they will not be opened up. If Mao Tse-tung were elected President of the Security Council of the United Nations, those areas would not be realistically opened to foreign trade and foreigners because that is not the purpose of this revolution and they do not need what we say we can offer them. What they do need, they can now obtain within the Soviet Universal State which is an economic as well as a political unit based upon a Marxist concept of non-capitalist economics.

Pick Your Poison

At Least One Cheer For John Foster Dulles

WASHINGTON

Some time has already passed since the Chinese Communists extended their cease-fire at Quemoy. In the interval, hardly anyone, even including the Secretary of State himself, has forthrightly applauded the success of American policy. So the time has come to get at least one cheer for John Foster Dulles.

The extension of the cease-fire strongly confirms the forecast, first offered in this space, that the Communists had already made up their minds not to start shooting again, before they broke off military action for the original cease-fire period of one week. One must still keep all fingers crossed. But the evidence is now really very strong that the military phase of the crisis in the Formosa Strait is at an end.

The sole purpose of the firm policy that Secretary Dulles sponsored was to meet the test of the Communists' military action against the offshore islands. The test has been met, unless all the known evidence is misleading. Furthermore, credit for this success has not been given where credit is due.

Despite the comparative effectiveness of the Sino-American blockade running, the Communists could easily have continued and tightened the Quemoy blockade. Despite the miserable showing of their air units in combat with the Nationalists, the Communists could have borne down the Nationalist air power by sheer weight of numbers. But they could not do these things without grave risk of widening and intensifying the fighting. And they did not choose to run this risk, because a wider war seemed likely to involve the United States.

Beyond any doubt, this was the real reason for the Communist decision to stop shooting. And this success must therefore be credited almost entirely to Secretary Dulles' policy, which determined the Communist calculation of risk, plus the stoutness of the men at the Quemoy garrison.

It may therefore be asked why it is time to give only one cheer for John Foster Dulles, instead of three ringing cheers and a hiss-boom-bah. The answer lies in the Secretary of State's responsibility for the cheap fakery of the past, which so infinitely complicates the still-dangerous present.

Four great past fakes hagride the policy-makers. The first was the Dulles election year fake about "liberating" the nations under the Communist yoke. The second was the Dulles post-election fake, the "unleashing" of Chiang Kai-shek. The third was Chiang Kai-shek's own fake, his talk about reinvading the mainland and defeating the Communists by force of arms. And these three fakes combine together to produce fake number four, and the heavy military commitment to the offshore islands.

This commitment became a fake as soon as the islands ceased to be used as a basis for operation against the mainland. This began to happen in 1955, after the Eisenhower Administration's carefully inconspicuous reversal of the phony "unleashing" of Chiang. Thereafter, the Chinese Nationalists successfully abandoned air attacks against mainland targets; interference with shipping entering mainland harbors; and even artillery fire by the guns on the offshore islands except in direct response from the Communists' guns. All these steps were taken by American request. Today, even air reconnaissance flights over the mainland have been given up, which is a rather risky final step.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Moscow announces plans to build Europe's largest swimming pool close by the Kremlin. Soon, Red government workers will be able to be in hot water after and before as well as during office hours.

Walking is the healthiest of all exercises, says a medico. Except, adds Grandpappy Jenkins, between curbs on a busy downtown street.

At the same time his wife was receiving a citation for safe driving in a Memphis, Tenn., motorist was ticketed for speeding. Here's one fellow who'll probably never air his opinion on women drivers!

Soon, points out Milt, the sterling printer, we'll reach that time of year when the mean temperature gets down to being really mean.

Long Island, which includes Brooklyn, is sinking at a rate of two feet a century, says a scientist. Maybe the natives are just feeling that low over loss of the Dodgers.

Don Juan, Bourbon pretender to the Spanish throne, predicts Spain eventually will again become a monarchy. The fact that he's first in line, is, of course, just a coincidence.

Many People Should Never Drive Automobiles

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

We have no way to identify drivers who are likely to become involved in accidents. Statistics of traffic casualties show that many are from 18 to 25 years of age, of low intelligence, and are socially irresponsible, maladjusted, egocentric, or have impulsive tendencies.

Different states have different requirements for a driver's license. The majority of regulations concern the eyes and rejections vary from 20-30 to 20-70 vision. Candidates for a license are questioned along this line but are not examined in certain states. The same applies to psychiatric disorders and physical abilities.

This is understandable, because most state vehicle authorities do not consider a medical certificate a practical part of the application, even though such medical data are required for school, church, and many jobs, and for the armed services.

The examination might prevent a victim of narcolepsy, untreated epilepsy, or poorly controlled diabetes from losing consciousness and plowing into crowds or running of the highway and killing himself.

In addition, persons suffering from disorders affecting muscle control and coordination would be carefully screened before being allowed to drive. This group includes victims of advanced parkinsonism, multiple sclerosis, myasthenia gravis, brain lesions, and a host of other neurological disturbances, including paralysis, marked tremors, and muscle weakness.

Individuals with deficiencies in behavior and judgment are the r I trouble makers. On this list are the mentally defective (I.Q. less than 70), the mentally ill, the alcoholics, and those who use drugs that affect driving skill.

The emotionally disturbed who are indifferent, inattentive, or too depressed to drive belong in this category also. So do men and women with severe character disorders such as those with impulsive, anti-social, or aggressive tendencies.

This group is easily recognized but difficult to censor. No one wants to admit the existence of a black sheep in the family. All mother need say is, "But he is such a good boy," and he gets a license.

Bombing Of Clinton High School Shames America's Forefathers

By Drew Pearson

CLINTON, Tenn. — In the middle of the debris of Clinton High School, there still stands a notice: "Don't bother this experiment — Kermit Jeffress."

The dynamiters who took out their hate on the school of this quiet Tennessee community did not bother the notice. There it is, surrounded by broken glass, plaster, demolished cinder-blocks, desks and tables — serene and undisturbed — four wooden trays of dirt in which are growing barley seedlings. They were planted to test the effect of atomic energy on vegetation, and they passed through an explosion which, in appearance at least, was just as violent as any atomic blast.

On tray is tagged "Barley, no exposure — Opal Bunch." Another is labeled "Dose No. 1 fission neutron — Johnson," with other trays planted by Joyce Wilson, Ann Barker, Tella England, and Jimmy Conner. Joyce and Ann, Tella and Jimmy have gone away to another school at nearby Oak Ridge now, and since they have to get up early to make the long drive, they haven't had time to water their barley. It is wilted and struggling to keep alive.

Wilted and struggling to keep their school alive also are the community leaders of Clinton. When you look at the devastation inside and around their high school, you can understand why. Broken glass is everywhere, even out on the lawn. There is plaster, and dust, and the lockers in which children put their sweaters and lunchboxes, some blown open and some in a heap on the floor.

The Golden Age

The passageway between two parts of the building, once so crowded that one-way traffic was necessary, is now a complete shambles. The shattered roof sags low over the passage. By walking carefully between piles of dislodged cinder-blocks and broken desks, you manage to get into the English room. You have to be careful not to slip through a gaping hole which one dynamite detonation blew in the ceiling of the cafeteria below.

On the blackboard of the English room is written "Do Not Erase," and although the Hitlerites who blew up Clinton High School erased just about everything else, they did not erase the lesson for "English III Literature assignment for November." The assignment is captioned: "The New Nation, The Golden Age," referring to the nation which our forefathers built in the days when the country was uncorrupted by the hate and passion which today blows up schools and places of worship.

Required reading for the assignment is still on the blackboard: "James Russell Lowell, John Greenleaf Whittier, Washington Irving, William Cullen Bryant, James Fenimore Cooper, Edgar Allan Poe, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow."

Those were the writers who inspired this country in the early, stirring, vigorous years. Those were writers the children of Clinton were assigned to read when suddenly early one Sunday morning their school became a shambles. The blackboard with its warning "Do Not Erase" is still there. And the names are still there — symbolic of the fact that you cannot erase great men and great literature. Poking through that debris, you couldn't help but wonder what Whittier or Longfellow or Lowell would have written about the hate and vengeance wreaked upon children.

Longfellow and Holmes, Bryant and Whittier would have stirred up the nation against such vengeance. They would never have done what the President did — refuse to see the school board when it came for advice and help. God Waits

On the floor of the wreckage I picked up a book, its cover ripped off by the explosion. It was a collection of the world's great literature called "Exploring Life Through Literature."

I skimmed through its torn pages — George Eliot's "Silas Marner," Coleridge's "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner," A. C. Doyle's "The Adventure of the Six Napoleons," the story of William Tell, Leo Tolstoy's "God Sees the Truth But Waits."

Go Sees the Truth But Waits. Some members of the Clinton School Board who had already raised $3,500,000 to build new schools since 1950 weren't quite so philosophical. They didn't see how they could wait. Children had to be educated. To some it seemed that God had waited a long time about protecting their school from an unseen, unknown fanatic.

They didn't say this, but you could feel their dismay, their bewilderment as to why a little community of only 6,000 people should be picked to suffer.

I explored further. A poster on the wall read "Welcome Freshmen — THE DRAGON'S TALE 10 cents." It had only been a few days since the fall term began and freshmen were being solicited to buy the school paper. In the dust was a copy of the "Tennessee Teacher," a civics bulletin "Alaska Joins Union" stared up at me from the rubble.

On another piece of paper was written "I love you Aleeda." It lay among ripped books and shattered plaster on the floor, reminding you that no love was in the hearts of the dynamiters who rocked this little Tennessee town on a Sunday morning.

I could not help but think as I walked through those ruins that other Aleedas and other Jimmys and Joyces and Anns in other schools throughout the country would like to help the children of Clinton rebuild their school. If the high school children of America each contributed the price of one Coke, enough money would be raised to rebuild the school in no time.

You can buy a friendship brick to combat bombs of hate by sending money direct to the Clinton School House, Clinton, Tenn.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

We walked across the cobbled court and the Swiss Guard pointed to a small door on the far side. Gayle was 11. She wore a little black hat and a yellow dress and black Mary Janes. "No wise-cracks," I said. We went through the small door and there was an elevator. No one was in it. The car moved up to the second floor. There was a marble floor and some men in evening dress, and one in satin knee breeches.

A man examined our invitation to the special audience. "May I have it as a memento?" I said. He shook his head. "I am sorry," he said. We were escorted down a necklace corridor from which big rooms hung like beads.

"You will please to sit," the man said in his precise English, "until you are summoned." We sat. It was a big square room with a fascinating floor of rose and white marble. The grain matched all around the room. The ceiling was two stories high and the walls were done in deep red damask. The ancient chairs were gilded legs.

Somewhere in Castel Gandolfo, a bell rang. A moment later, a young mason in red cassock and zucchetto and red cape ran through the corridor. Gayle watched him go. A few more minutes, he ran by again. She smiled her little left-handed smile.

"Superman," she whispered. The castle sits like an old yellow wart in the green Alban Hills, south of Rome. In the square before it reposes a stone fountain, some religious articles stores, a small church and, around the corner, a big Coca Cola sign. "The Pause that Refreshes," it says. Below the sign is a lake of sapphire blue.

We were summoned to the audience room. There was a stout German archbishop, who was nervous; an Italian family from San Antonio, Texas; a Jewish woman from New York; Mrs. Thomas Dodd, wife of a Connecticut Congressman. Gayle and I. We stood in a semi-circle, waiting. The archbishop pulled at his big sash. At every sound, he jumped a little.

A door opened to the left. A priest came into the room backwards, bowing low. Behind him came Pius XII. He was a tall, thin man with huge dark eyes. His hands were clasped before him. He walked around the semi-circle slowly, pausing before each person, who knelt and kissed the Fisherman's Ring and he blessed each one.

His skin was like custard and his jowls blue. He spoke good English with a small accent and he inquired about a book I was writing and he asked what grade Gayle was in. We talked of Jerusalem and of the United States. Then he turned to Mrs. Dodd, who stood next to me.

"You must be very proud of him," the Pope said.

Mrs. Dodd looked startled. So did I. We looked at him, pointed silently to each other, and shook our heads no. "Ah," said His Holiness, "I see. I am sorry."

He went around the circle, chatting in Italian and German and English. His back was toward us as he conversed with the German archbishop, who was displaying a small printed sheet. The rest of us stood like statues in the park.

Suddenly, Gayle left the circle. I was powerless to stop it, and, watching her, I died a little. Vatican protocol is stiff. She walked up behind Pius XII and pulled at the sleeve of his white cassock. He stopped speaking German, turned around in some surprise, and looked down at his younger daughter.

"What is it?" he said softly. She looked up into his face and said: "I forgot. I have two grandmas to bless and one of them is sick." He raised his black brows and cocked his head. For the first time, I saw his teeth as he smiled. He made the sign of the cross slowly and said: "They are blessed."

Then he turned back to the nervous archbishop and resumed his conversation. My daughter resumed her place in the semi-circle.

Later, the Pope posed for a picture with us. He watched the court photographer with small amusement. The pontiff looked in my direction and said: "Like in America, he always says: 'Just one more'."

We got into our car and I said to Gayle: "That was an awful thing. That man is the Pope. He is the spiritual leader of four hundred and fifty million Catholics. You just don't walk up and pull his sleeve, honey."

She chewed on a nail a moment. Then she shrugged. "He's a priest, isn't he?" she said.

Dick Groat's All-Stars Beat Pen-Mar Leaguers, 10-7

Gene Stair Socks Grand Slam Homer

Roy Face Victim, 1,162 Payees See Dapper Dan Game

Dick Groat's All-Stars, with five major league players in the lineup, defeated an all-star combination of the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday at Penn Avenue Field in perfect October baseball weather by the score of 10-7 but it was Gene Stair, of Hyndman, former minor leaguer, who "stole the show" when he smashed a grand slam home run in the second inning and thrilled a gathering of 1,162 payees, the largest crowd to witness a game here this season.

Left fielder Stair, once the property of the Pittsburgh Pirates who looks like Mickey Mantle, belted his mighty homer off Roy Face, the relief ace who "saved" 26 games for Pittsburgh's second place Pirates this season. Gene, a left handed hitter, hammered the ball high over the right field barrier after Barney Spearman and Bobby Raines got infield hits and Joe Glass drew a base on balls. It was the only round-tripper of the game and gave the Pen-Mar Leaguers a 4-1 lead.

Overcome Early Lead

The visiting team, headed by Dick Groat, captain and shortstop of the Pirates, overcame the three-run lead and forged ahead at 5-4 by scoring two runs in the third and two in the fifth at the expense of Bobby Raines, the Barreville hurler, who yielded 10 hits and five tallies in five frames. He was charged with the loss.

Lefty Bill Haberlein, Zihlman twirler, who supplanted Raines in the 6th, yielded four runs in the sixth and that proved enough to sew up the game for major-league aggregation. The final run was scored by Bobby Raines in the 7th, Dave Richards, Zihlman righthander, and Jesse Markley, Barreville, twirled the last two innings and failed to yield a run.

Despite a sore throat and a cold, Face started the game here because he said he was advertised as the starting pitcher and did not want to disappoint the fans. He gave up four runs and five hits in the two innings he toiled on the rubber.

Gary Willison Winner

Gary Willison, of Saxton, Pa., who won 19 games for Winnipeg in the Northern League this year, followed Face to the mound, pitched two scoreless innings and received credit for the victory. He was followed by Lefty Paul Smith, former Pirate, who wound up the 1958 season at Minneapolis. Smith also blanked the Pen-Mar team for two frames. Lefty Stair shut out the sandlotters in the 7th, "Chuck" Tanner, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, gave up two runs in the eighth, and Nelson "Nellie" Fox, star second baseman of the Chicago White Sox, who played second, first and also caught, pitched the final frame and yielded the last run of the game.

Groat's team racked up a total of 16 hits, four of which Dick obtained himself — a double and three singles — in five trips. He played short, first base and then finished back of the plate.

Nellie Fox batted a triple and single in two official trips and scored four of the ten runs. Taylor, Smith and Bailey garnered two safeties each.

The Pen-Mar team collected 10 safeties, including Stair's four-master, a triple by Denny Shuck and Dorcil Kline's two-base rap. "Chuck" Tanner proved to be a real comedian and entertained the fans with his antics. Some of the major leaguers played as many as four different positions during the game staged by the Cumberland Chapter of the Dapper Dan Club.

Autograph seekers had a "field day" and the visiting players gladly affixed their signatures to programs, paper bags, baseballs and pieces of paper.

Final Of Six Games

It was the final game of six played by the barnstormers who broke up and returned to their homes after the contest here.

Christ Charubas, president of the local Dapper Dan Club, had the honor of pitching the first ball which was received by Earl M. Nonnenmann, president of the Pen-Mar League. Box score:

Northwestern And Purdue Pull Big Ten Surprises

Spill Michigan, Wisconsin Beaten

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

An uprising of perennial door-mats and deposed champions had college football reeling and rocking.

Northwestern and Purdue have uprooted the balance of power in the mighty Big Ten. Navy's Cotton Bowl champions have been knocked from the unbeaten list. And snap-crackle-pop went Auburn's 17-game winning streak.

Northwestern, winless last year, created the biggest shock of the topsy-turvy football weekend. Led by Ron Burton, the Wildcats beat Michigan one of its worst shell-lacks of all-time 53-24. They scored four touchdowns in seven minutes in the second period and led 43-0 at the half.

Iowa, pouncing on fumbles, smashed down fourth-ranked Wisconsin 20-9. Purdue, crushed by Wisconsin a week ago, bounced back to beat fifth-ranked Michigan State 14-6.

Tulane Spills Navy

Navy's Midshipmen, winners of their first three games and sixth-ranked, lost to a Tulane team which had dropped four straight. Tulane triumphed 14-6 in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va., with Richie Pettibon sparking touchdown drives of 83 and 66 yards.

Georgia Tech, once the power of Dixie, halted Auburn's perfect streak with a 7-7 tie. Fred Braselton scored the Tech touchdown with a one-yard plunge, marking the first time any team had been able to score on Auburn on the land route since 1956.

Auburn, winner of The Associated Press poll in 1957, was ranked second last week behind Army, which won over Virginia 35-6 in a costly game at West Point.

These were principal scores of a wild Saturday marked by an uncommon number of fumbles, flare-ups and minor riots as pressure mounted and tempers became knife-edged.

Fist Fight Breaks Out

A fist fight broke out at Columbus, where third-ranked Ohio State beat Indiana 48-9. Ohio State's coach, Woody Hayes, was ordered off the field after throwing his hat and coat on the ground in a protest of the officiating.

Players and coaches engaged in a free-for-all at La Grande, Ore., where Westminster (Utah) beat Eastern Oregon 20-12. And tear gas had to be used by sheriff's deputies to break up a spectator brawl at Fort Collins, Colo., following Wyoming's 7-6 victory over Colorado State.

Of the weekly Top Ten, five teams came through with victories and the sixth, Clemson, No. 10, was idle pending a Thursday game against South Carolina.

Quarterback Joe Caldwell and halfback Bob Anderson led top-ranked Army to victory over Virginia but the Cadets, already short of reserves, were left crippled for next Saturday's game against tough Pittsburgh.

Pete Dawkins, team's captain and leading scorer, suffered a pulled thigh muscle but should be able to play. Fullback Harry Walters sprained his ankle and appears definitely lost for the Pitt game.

LSU Whips Kentucky
Texas, No. 7, thumped Arkansas 24-6 for victory No. 5. Mississippi, No. 8, won easily over Hardin-Simmons 24-0. Louisiana State, back to back fifth-ranked Michigan State 14-6.

The unbeaten-untied list is dwindling fast. There are only half a dozen major teams with perfect records: Army (4-0), Ohio State (4-0), Texas (5-0), Mississippi (5-0), Colorado (4-0) and Northwestern (4-0). Rutgers, the birth-place of the sport, has a 4-0 mark against less imposing foes.

Perfect records ended Saturday night for College of the Pacific, upset 12-6 by Cincinnati, and Houston, beaten by Oklahoma State 7-0. The Air Force Academy, tied only by Iowa, won again, beating Stanford 16-0.

Sooners Bounce Back
Two perennial contenders for the national crown, Oklahoma and Notre Dame, bounced back after defeats last week. Oklahoma crushed Kansas 43-0. Notre Dame barely edged Duke 9-7 on a touchdown and a field goal.

Northwestern, Ohio State and Iowa moved to the front of the Big Ten Rose Bowl picture. Northwestern plays Iowa and Ohio State meets Wisconsin in key games Saturday. Illinois, 20-8 victor over Minnesota, is host to Michigan State.

On the Pacific Coast, California and Washington State emerged as best bets for the host role at Pasadena. California beat Southern Cal for the first time in eight years 14-12. Washington State dominated Oregon's defending coast champions 6-0.

Chicago Cards Upset Giants By 23-6 Score

McHan Plays Hero Role For Winners

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Lamar McHan, his injured right elbow wrapped in bandages, came off the bench Sunday to lead the Chicago Cardinals to an upset 23-6 triumph over the New York Giants in the National Football League.

The 25-year-old aerialist from Arkansas, who last week apparently had lost the first string quarterback job to rookie M. C. Reynolds, fired two touchdown passes to end Vern Nagler. He set up another score with a pair of passes that covered 54 yards and a 10-yard run to New York's five.

An eight-yarder from McHan to Nagler scored the tie-breaking touchdown early in the fourth quarter. A 59-yard pass play from McHan to Ollie Matson set up the TD. The Cards then added another touchdown and a field goal to clinch things.

McHan's dazzling exhibition spoiled New York's homecoming before a record-opening Yankee Stadium crowd of 52,684 and avenged a previous 37-7 defeat at the hands of the Giants in Buffalo.

To make things worse for the Giants, they lost Frank Gifford, their star back and leading scorer for the past three seasons, for about three weeks. Gifford was injured in the second period, tearing ligaments of the right knee.

With McHan pitching, Nagler catching and backs John C. Row, Joe Childress and Ollie Matson running through and over the Giant line, the Chicagoans outgained New York in the air 245 to 126 and on the ground 176 to 118 yards. McHan completed 12 of 18 passes for 215 yards. Nagler caught six passes for 78 yards and two touchdowns.

The Giants, held scoreless for nearly three periods, finally broke through with two minutes remaining in the third quarter. Mel Triplett climaxed a 58-yard drive, bulling over for the final yard.

Chicago: TD, Nagler 2 (4-pass from McHan); 8—Pass from McHan to Matson (3-run). PAT, Conrad 2. FG, Conrad (37).

New York: TD, Triplett 4 (—run).

WALLOPS GRAND SLAMMER—Gene Stair, of the Hyndman Merchants, gave the crowd attending the exhibition game between Dick Groat's All-Stars and the Pen-Mar League All-Stars their biggest thrill yesterday when he belted Roy Face, the Pittsburgh Pirates' relief ace, for a grand slam homer in the second inning to give his team a 4-1 lead. Stair, an ex-minor league star and formerly the property of the Pirates, smashed one of Face's fast pitches far over the right field fence for the game's only circuit blast. Barney Spearman and Bobby Raines had singled and Joe Glass had drawn a base on balls before Stair, a lefthanded hitter, came through with his mighty wallop. Gene started the game in left field and had two hits in three official trips.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball is a game of surprises but a surprise number of "best bets" were posted on opening day last April. The skids before the season was over.

Led by the pennant picks — the Yankees and Braves — nine April favorites came through. Sixteen others failed and it may be 18 by the time the most valuable player awards are handed out later this year, a batting average of .333 for the favorites.

As of last April, these were the best bets:
Pennants—Yankees and Braves. (They won.)

Stolen bases—Willie Mays of the Giants and Luis Aparicio of the White Sox. (They won.)

Batting titles—Ted Williams of Boston, Hank Aaron of the Braves. (Ted won, Aaron finished fifth with Richie Ashburn of the Phillies on top.)

Home runs—Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and Willie Mays of the Giants. (Mantle won, Mays finished fifth with Ernie Banks of the Cubs way out in front.)

Player who'll be missed most—Roy Campanella of the Dodgers. (Amen!)

Homer heaven — Los Angeles Coliseum. (More homers — 193 — were hit at Los Angeles than any park in the National League. But that's still short of the 219 potted last year at Cincinnati.)

Player most players will be rooting for — Granny Hamner of Phillies, veteran shortstop who was injured, tried pitching, then hoped for a third base comeback. (Hamner returned to short, went out for the season early in the year "with banged up leg.")

Wildest pitchers—Paul Foytack of Detroit, Dick Drott of the Cubs. (Turley issued most walks in American League, 128, Sam Jones led National with 107.)

Most strikeouts—Herb Score of Cleveland, Jack Sanford, Phillies. (Neither figured. Jim Bunning of the Tigers led the American with 175, Sam Jones topped the National with 225.)

Busiest relievers — Elroy Face of the Pirates, George Zuverink of Baltimore. (They'll need plenty of rest this winter but the leaders were Don Elston of the Cubs with 69 games, Truman Fairmont (Cleveland of Washington with 55.)

Most improved player—Vinegar Bend Mizell of the Cardinals, Tech. (Ouch! He had a 10-14 record.)

Busiest trader—Frank Lane of Davis & Elkins the Indians. (Nope, Kansas City West Liberty with its shuttle service to the Concord Yankees and Cleveland, did the Salem most shuffling after the season Bluefield State opened.)

Pitching leaders—Don Drysdale Bethany of the Dodgers, Billy Pierce of Weslayan

Gallant Man In Special Next Month

Round Table Also May Enter Race

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gallant Man, who's a gallant horse, will try a big comeback in the $50,000 added Pimlico Special Nov. 29, and he'll have his work cut out for him if Round Table also goes to the post.

The Maryland Jockey Club announced Saturday that the 4-year-old English born thoroughbred has recovered from a leg injury. Trainer John Nerud said the small splint growth on the left foreleg had cleared up. He expects to have Gallant Man in training again within a week.

A month ago it was announced the Ralph Lowe owned speeder would retire from competition. That was after Gallant Man finished fifth in the Sysonby in New York. His rapid recovery changed that.

Nerud explained Gallant Man is being pointed for the 1 3/16 mile Special because the invitational is a prestige race.

"We are still in the running for Horse of the Year honors," said the trainer.

Round Table and Clem are among other top candidates who will be asked to race against Gallant Man. Round Table became the champion winner a week ago Saturday, winning the Hawthorne Gold Cup at Chicago. His earnings total $1,336,364.

Clem, however, has beat Round Table three times. He is entered in the $100,000 Laurel International Nov. 11.

Unbeaten Baltimore Colts Tounce Detroit Lions, 40-14

Unitas Equals Sid Luckman Passing Mark

Tosses Touchdown Pass In 19th Game, 55,190 See Game

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—The unbeaten Baltimore Colts sent the winless Detroit Lions down to another defeat Sunday, crushing the defending world champions 40-14 as quarterback Johnny Unitas tied one of Sid Luckman's passing marks.

The Cinderella Kid picked off the sandlots hit Jim Mutscheller with a 37-yard scoring pass late in the fourth period, giving him touchdown passes in 19 straight National Football League games.

Luckman, the all-time Chicago Bear great, compiled the same mark. Unitas needs four more to equal the record set by Cecil Isbell.

Unitas passed for more than 200 yards — most of it late in the game when the Colts wiped out Detroit's final victory hopes with three fourth-period scores.

The Lions, who had only a tie with Green Bay in four games, twice struggled to within one touchdown of the Western Division leaders. And when Yale Lary raced 71 yards with a Baltimore punt in the final period, most of the 55,190 spectators saw the possibility of another last-minute victory that marked Detroit's championship team of a year ago.

But before Detroit could do anything, the Colts struck three times and wrapped up their fourth victory. In the last eight minutes, Lenny Moore raced 11 yards for one score. Unitas passed to Mutscheller for another, and on the final play of the contest rookie speedster Len Lyles raced 27 yards for the final touchdown. Baltimore 40 7 20-14 Detroit 14 0 7 0-7

Baltimore: TD, Ameche 2 (1-run, 1-run); Dupre (4-run); Moore (11-run); Mutscheller (37-pass from Unitas; Lyles (27-run); PAT, Myhra 4.

Detroit: TD, Doran (19-pass from Morrill); Lary (71-punt return); PAT, Martin 2.

Redskins Trim Packers, 37-21

Olszewski, LeBaron Roll Up 34-0 Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins turned Johnny Olszewski loose Sunday and with new fury in their attack thundered to a 37-21 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

With Olszewski running like a madman and little quarterback Eddie LeBaron pitching touchdowns, the Redskins rolled up a 34-0 lead before the Packers could get themselves undone.

Three Packer scores in the last period — two on passes by sub quarterback Babe Parilli — were all in vain and Green Bay went down to its third defeat of the National Football League season. Olszewski personally took the ball across only once, but the blond fullback whom the Redskins acquired this season from the Chicago Cards fired the big guns for Washington.

Johnny O—he wears a zero for a numeral—gained 165 yards on 20 runs. His 45-yard scoring run in the first period sent the Redskins off flying. LeBaron passed to Joe Walton and Bill Anderson for later touchdowns. Ed Sutton romped for one and Sam Baker kicked three field goals.

Parilli hurled to Max McGee for an 80-yard touchdown play opening the final quarter and the Packers' overhead offense saved them from humiliation. Rookie Jim Taylor caught a 31-yarder after Paul Hornung had plunged three for the other Green Bay scores.

Green Bay: TD, McGee (80-pass from Parilli), Hornung (3-run), Taylor (31-pass from Parilli), PAT, Hornung—3.
Washington: TD, Olszewski (45-run), Walton (20-pass from LeBaron), Anderson (33-pass from LeBaron), Sutton (5-run), PAT; Baker 4 FG; Baker (44, 38, 22).

Syracuse Beats Detroit, 103-94

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—The Syracuse Nationals fashioned a 26-point third period lead and then withstood a late Detroit rally Sunday to open the National Basketball Association campaign with a 103-94 victory over the Pistons.

During the third quarter of the nationally televised league opener, the Nats enjoyed a 68-42 lead. The Pistons cut the deficit to 73-68 early in the fourth period but the Nats, led by Togo Palazzi, again moved in front, 84-70, to dispell the threat.

Dolph Schayes, runner-up to George Yardley in the NBA scoring race last season, netted 18 points to pace the Nats. Gene Shue matched that figure for the Pistons while Yardley contributed 11.

Chicago Bears Conquer Rams

Cop Penalty Packed Game By Score 31-10

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Will o' the wisp Willie Galimore knifed to two touchdowns and rookie Erich Barnes scored another on a blocked field goal attempt to propel the Chicago Bears to a 31-10 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

The penalty-packed National Football League game, which started with Bear owner-coach George Halas getting shoved by a Ram player, marked Chicago's eighth straight triumph over Los Angeles. The Bears took sole possession of second place in the Western Division with a 3-1 record.

The Halas episode — which brought a Wrigley Field crowd of 48,326 to its feet — came in the first quarter, shortly after Bill Wade connected on a pass to Del Shofner. The pass was good for a 92-yard touchdown — longest scoring aerial play of the season.

Later Barnes stole a Wade toss and the Bears moved to midfield. Ed Brown hit Harlon Hill with a sideline pass and several Rams shoved the Bear end out of bounds on the 41.

Halas charged down the sidelines protesting the roughing-up of Hill. Ram defensive halfback Don Burroughs shoved Halas nearly off his feet. Bear guard Abe Gibron pushed Burroughs.

The entire Bear squad came bristling to the rescue, but a few words from Halas and the situation calmed down.

The Bears tied it 7-7 in the first quarter when Barnes blocked a field goal try by Paige Cothren, scooped up the ball and streaked 41 yards for a touchdown. George Blanda booted the first of his three extra points. He also added a 24-yard field goal before the quarter closed.

The Bears went ahead 17-7 at halftime, driving 63 yards in 6 plays halftime driving 63 yards in 6 plays for a second period TD. Galimore slanted the final yard.

Cothren placekicked a 23-yard field goal as the Rams cut the margin to 17-10 in the third.

The Bears sewed it up in the opening minutes of the fourth. Brown's pass to Hill was good for 40 yards and set up Galimore's 20-yard dart into the end zone.

The Rams were set back 145 yards in penalties. They went backwards twice as far as they did forwards on the ground, being held to 73 yards rushing.

Late in the final quarter, the Bears scored again after Bill George recovered Frank Ryan's fumble on the Ram 32. Brown flipped a 2-yard pass to Bill McColl to cap the scoring drive.

Los Angeles 7 3 0 0-10 Chicago 10 7 0 14-31
Los Angeles: TD, Shofner (92-pass from Wade), PAT, Cothren, FG, Cothren (23).
Chicago: TD, Barnes (41-run after blocking field goal attempt); Galimore 2 (1-run; 20-run; McColl (2, pass from Brown), PAT, Blanda 3; George 1 FG, Blanda (24).

Gifford Injured
NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Gifford, star left halfback for the New York Giants, suffered torn ligaments in his right knee during Sunday's 23-6 loss to the Chicago Cardinals and will be sidelined two or three weeks.

Gifford, an all-league selection in recent seasons, was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital and will remain in bed for several days.

27 Horses Die In Marlboro Track Fire

Damage Is $110,000 At Half Miler

Starward Bound, Songai, New Dice Perish In Blaze

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—An estimated 27 race horses were killed and 27 others injured Sunday when fire swept the stable area at Marlboro Race Track.

Two barns were destroyed and two others damaged as a stiff northerly wind whipped the flames out of control for an hour. The track is located about 15 miles southeast of Washington.

Track workers said they removed at least 26 bodies of horses from one major barn. At least one other horse had to be shot as it tried to put out the flames searing its body.

Track officials said the meeting will continue this week as scheduled. 20 Horses Freed
Twenty other horses were freed from another burning barn and ran wildly through the track grounds for two hours.

Early estimates of the loss ran to $110,000.

Three of the horses in the affected barns were listed as Songai which broke the track record for a mile and sixteenth opening day. Starward Bound, which won the first race yesterday and New Dice.

New Dice Destroyed
New Dice was reported blinded and shot after it came charging out of the barn.

Twenty-seven horses which were burned or cut were being treated at the receiving barn.

Firefighter Richard Maxwell, 22, of Seat Pleasant, suffered a possible ankle fracture and a severely bruised arm when a wall fell on him. Ben Schwartz, 33, of Morningstar, received a possible arm fracture when kicked by a horse he was trying to round up.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined. Lieut. James Chapman of the track police and Lawrence R. Woltz, Prince Georges County fire marshal, removed an electric hot plate and a coffee pot from the track room in the large barn destroyed. Fire regulations bar such appliances from the barns.

Loss Is Estimated
Edward Farrell, president of the South Maryland Agricultural Fair Assn., which operates the track, estimated the value of the major barn at $40,000. He said the horses were worth from $1,000 to $5,000.

Other horses known to be among the dead were listed by their trainer, Phil Miller of Pikeville, Md., as Ensign Pat, Miss Tiara, Top Take, Bucktoe Mike, Coffee Run and Cockade.

Farrell said there were about 350 horses at Marlboro. The barns which burned, he said, were used to handle the overflow from the regular horse barns which were at the other end of the track and not in danger.

Farrell said the buildings were insured and the horses were at least partially so by the Horsemen's Protective Benevolent Assn. Fire Visited Track In 1950

The Marlboro track was the scene of a similarly tragic fire on Sept. 22, 1950, when 22 horses were killed in a blaze which destroyed two barns.

Twelve companies of firefighters from eight surrounding communities fought today's flames for more than an hour before bringing them under control.

Referees Stripped Of Scoring Rights
LEIPZIG, East Germany (UPI)—The International Amateur Boxing Association Sunday stripped referees of their scoring rights.

In future Olympic and other international championships the scoring will be done solely by a panel of five judges.

Delegates at the IABA Congress, meeting here, voted the important change Sunday in hopes of reducing the number of disputed decisions, which marked recent championships.

They felt that the referee is so busy policing the fight in the ring that he cannot also keep his mind on scoring; whereas the judges outside the ring can concentrate on it.

Glenville won its fourth straight, 20-0 over Wesleyan at Weston last Thursday night.

This week's schedule:
Fairmont at Tech; Davis & Elkins at Concord; Salem - Glenville at West Union; West Liberty at Wesleyan; Shepherd at Newport News, Va.; Anderson, Ind., at Bethany, and Morgan State, Md., at West Virginia State.

Hawthorn Cops World's Auto Driving Title

Finishes Second To Stirling Moss

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Staff Writer

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Mike Hawthorn, a strapping Briton who once quit racing Sunday won the world auto driving championship by finishing second to Stirling Moss, another English ace, in the Grand Prix of Morocco.

The race was the final grand prix of the season and Hawthorn clinched the title in the final moment.

The 29-year-old blond giant, at the wheel of a Ferrari, had to come from behind in the second half of the 402.906 kilometer (250.2 miles) to edge Moss by a single point for the throne abdicated by Argentina's famed Juan Manuel Fangio.

Hawthorn finished with a total of 42 points. Moss, piloting a British Vanwall scored 41 points by gaining nine Sunday. Phil Hill, of Santa Monica, Calif., finished third Sunday in another Ferrari.

The title is decided by adding the points scored by drivers in their six best grand prix races of the year.

Moss averaged 117.3 m.p.h. around the 4.71 mile circuit on the outskirts of town.

Hill was only eight-tenths of a second behind Hawthorn. The American, who appeared to have the fastest Ferrari in the race, contented himself with trailing Hawthorn to capture the vital position he needed.

The accident was discovered by a neighbor, Salem Shreve, who found the victim and summoned help.

YMCA Open House Week Will Begin Next Sunday

Because of its many services to boys, girls, men and women, the family will be emphasized in the next year at the local YMCA, and it is only natural that it will play an important role in the Open House Week that the "Y" will conduct next week.

Years ago, said General Secretary B. U. Smith, the YMCA was just what its name implied, an organization for men. At one phase of YMCA organization, it was one of the proud boasts of many old-time "Y" members that the "Y" was the one place a man could go and be away from the female sex.

All that changed when the "Y" began realizing a greater responsibility to all members of the family. It began to realize that it could help young girls grow up in a good environment as it could help boys. It also had programs for women, and in this action the

Teachers Vote To Ask $400 Pay Increase

Assembly Rebuffs Devereux Bid

BALTIMORE (AP) — The representative assembly of the Maryland State Teachers Assn. voted overwhelmingly Saturday to seek a $400 teacher pay raise from the state.

At the same time, the assembly gave the back of its hand to Republican candidate for governor James Devereux.

He had cautioned the teachers association against "blackjacking" legislators for pay raises. He favors locally-financed raises.

In a companion resolution to the pay raise measure, the teachers assembly said "an attempt has been made to cast a shadow of impropriety over the association with respect to its efforts for improvement of the economic status of teachers."

The resolution reaffirmed confidence in association leaders and their efforts to get a state-backed raise. Then the assembly gave heavy support to the pay raise resolution. It calls for a $400 raise for about 85 per cent of the teachers, to be financed by increasing the state classroom subsidy from $1,000 per unit to $1,400.

The Democratic candidate for governor, J. Millard Tawes, also got into the rap-Devereux act for Devereux' speech to the teachers on Friday. So did an official from the U.S. office of education.

Devereux had told the association that "as a blunt instrument for the blackjacking of legislators its days are surely numbered."

"Gangster" Language
Tawes on Saturday deplored this kind of talk, saying it stems from "the vocabulary of gangsters and hoodlums" and "is shameful in the mouth of one who seeks the state's highest office." He said Devereux should apologize to the teachers.

Devereux fired right back. He said, in effect, Tawes was "either deliberately misrepresenting the facts, or he is illiterate."

Devereux said his attack was not on the teachers but "on the methods used by the paid lobbyists of the association."

Devereux says the state can't foot the bill for a pay raise without upping taxes. Tawes says he believes it can be done without additional taxes.

"Arrogant Position"
Said Devereux "if the arrogant position of the MSTA (teachers' association) lobby is to condemn honesty in a speaker and to applaud demagoguery, then I am sure it does not represent the thinking of the vast majority" of Maryland teachers.

Dr. John B. Whitelaw, chief teacher for the U. S. Office of Education, also apparently alluded to Devereux when he told the teachers Saturday:

"I was interested to see in the paper that one of your speakers had been wagging his finger at you — bemoaning the fact that teachers here have become politically literate."

"I've long known that a bulldozer was needed in Annapolis but not in the halls of the Legislature. "I am delighted," Whitelaw said "that the teachers association has reached a point of activity that justifies a reprimand from somebody who appears to be running very fast."

Catholic Students To Have Holidays

Devereux Backers Claim Tawes Misused Gas Card

BALTIMORE (AP)—A group of veterans backing James P. S. Devereux for governor has revived a charge that J. Millard Tawes abused gas rationing privileges during World War II.

The organization describes itself as "Veterans for Devereux Committee."

State Comptroller Tawes is opposing Devereux as the Democratic nominee.

The veterans injected the statement as a campaign issue at a Saturday luncheon. They said "It is especially important that veterans of the armed services be informed of this conduct now, as many of them were away at that time, defending their homeland."

Tawes was not reached immediately for comment.

The group said Tawes had driven himself and his wife in a state-owned limousine to Florida to attend their son's wedding. The comptroller used "illegally squandered gasoline ration coupons issued to the state of Maryland," the statement added.

It was further stated Tawes' trip was exposed in the press and the matter was brought before the Somerset County ration board in Tawes' hometown of Crisfield. Tawes was exonerated, the veterans' statement said and went on to explain:

"The board said Mr. Tawes had explained that the trip had been on state business—that as Maryland's state property officer he had visited three state capitals to see how other states handle public property."

"The capitals were listed as Raleigh, Columbia and Augusta. "The only state capital named Augusta is in Maine, and not between Maryland and Georgia."

The statement said this is what followed:

Public indignation forced reopening of the case and Tawes was called before the State OPA board.

Tawes threw himself on the mercy of the board and acknowledged his trip had been for pleasure, "that he had knowingly and illegally used rationed gasoline" and that the inspection trips were incidental to the junket.

The comptroller was stripped of personal gasoline privileges for a year, but he transferred title of his car to Mrs. Tawes, who still had ration tickets.

"Veterans for Devereux Committee" also said Tawes had certified to the OPA ration board that he needed enough gasoline to drive 6,000 miles a month to perform duties as comptroller. But the state treasurer, who had jurisdiction of cars in the comptroller's office, reported Tawes could conduct his official duties on 1,600 miles a month.

The figures cited, said the veterans, appeared at the time in OPA records and newspapers.

Chairman of the committee is Oliver P. Hagerty of Baltimore.

Lions Club Project Will Be Discussed

The tonsillectomy and hearing aid program for deserving children of Cumberland, a project of the local Lions Club, will be discussed on Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. during the weekly luncheon meeting at Central YMCA.

Gunther's Latest Volume Added To Library Books

Among outstanding new books added to the Cumberland Free Public Library collection is the latest of John Gunther's "Inside" volumes, "Inside Russia Today."

Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian, reports that Mr. Gunther attempts to convey what Russia is like, its essential quality and atmosphere since Stalin's death. This is a first-hand achievement in reporting and analysis, made invaluable by its timeliness.

"Many Lagoons" by Ralph Varady is the story of the author's escape to the island of Moorea near Tahiti. This text is not analytical, but simply a report of an experience which the author enjoyed and hopes to share with his readers.

Both children and mature readers will be enlightened and entertained by Sara Jenkins' "The Young People of the Bible." The author's comments and discussions of each saga give the book
